GETTING STARTED

IMPORTANT SPOT X TIPS

- ▶ SPOT X needs a clear view of the sky with no obstructions (buildings, roof overhangs, trees, etc.) to obtain a GPS signal to provide the most accurate location information and send messages (Figure 1). SPOT X is not as reliable at the bottom of a deep canyon, in a cave, or in very dense woods.

- ▶ Orienting SPOT X vertically with the antenna facing towards the sky, will improve performance due to the antenna being located on the top portion of the device.
- ▶ Since SPOT X has the ability to receive messages, messages sent from the device can be acknowledged shortening the transmission time.
- ▶ Before heading off the grid, we strongly recommend that you send a test text message to ensure your device was activated properly. You can view your sent messages in your account at FindMeSPOT.com/MyAccount

NOTE: If no GPS signal is found, the 📶 will blink. If possible, you should move to a location with a clearer view of the sky. SPOT X will keep looking for your GPS location for up to 2 minutes. If no GPS location is found in 2 minutes, SPOT X does not send your message. You can check the status of your messages in the message thread.

SPOT X OPERATING TEMPERATURES

Prolonged use or storage of your SPOT X in direct sunlight or in a vehicle may cause the device to overheat and/or damage its battery. SPOT X can withstand operating in temperatures of -4F to +140F (-20C to +60C).

CONTACTS

SPOT X can hold up to 70 contacts and/or contact groups. Individual contacts can either be manually added to or deleted from the SPOT X on the fly or they can be input via SPOT My Account and synced to the SPOT X by using the SPOT X Firmware Updater.

LOCATE

Find the last known location of the SPOT X by Selecting the Device, then click Locate.

The Last Known Reporting Interval is based on either the Tracking interval or Message Fetching rate set on each individual SPOT X device. Locating the SPOT X may take longer than the Last Known Reporting Interval due to several factors: the SPOT X is turned off or has not communicated with the SPOT Satellite Network, the SPOT X does not have a clear line of sight to the satellites, and/or reporting intervals may have been changed directly on the device.
